

Pere Marquette River-Fishing Report

November 10th, 2009

Water Conditions — Temps in the 40's, conditions are perfect.

Fishing Conditions — Steelhead fishing is good through out the Pere Marquette River with water conditions perfect. The fish seem to be eager to bite and are full of action once you hook into them. The salmon are about gone in the river and the egg bite is not as dominate as it had been. While eggs will continue to be a top choice large streamers have started to produce. The lower Pere Marquette River is still high but visibility is good, though the water has a black stain.

Please remember that the PM River is an all wild steelhead fishery... the more steelhead that are harvested the less there will be for years to come.

Glow Nuke Eggs, just the ticket for high dark or dirty water.

A perfect PM River steelhead caught and released yesterday!
